Home Page

1. This is the header. Includes 1) big main title “ASMRnews” for easy clarity. 2) a light and dark switch mode on the top left. The dark mode provides an alternate look to the webpage, mostly based on dark colors and unsaturated pictures that will saturate when hovered upon. This is for easy viewing at night since viewers mostly watch ASMR for sleep and relaxation. 3) search bar beside the switches for user friendly purposes. 4) “merch available now” advertisement as an efficient reminder which will compel users to check out and purchase merchandise. 5) subscribe button for easy access.
2. This is the site navigation Bar.
3. This section contains an eye catching image and text which will link to the about page to find out what ASMR is and means. This is at the top of the page as it is significant to users who are not a part of the community chancing upon this site.
4. This section contains latest headlines of studies conducted about ASMR. Links to the studies page.
5. Button linking to audio files section on interactive page. An interesting interactive aspect that will test viewer’s interest in ASMR.
6. This section contains a preview of videos available on the socials page. Clicking on a thumbnail will bring users to the video player on socials page with the relevant video selected. View all links users to the socials page.
7. This section contains a preview of social posts about the latest popular trends or conversational topics in the ASMR community. This links to the socials page.
8. This section contains social links associated with the website.
9. This button will prompt the mail app to open so that users can submit feedback or gossip tips.
10. This is the footer containing legal information.

3. This section displays a menu for the Product Categories such as : Clothing, Mugs, Headphones and Pillows.
4. This section displays the category of products selected from the menu in 3. Thus a selection of products will be shown.
5. This is the check out cart. Clicking “add to cart” for an item from 4. will result in the item showing up in this cart. Thus the cart will total up the amount of items and total price. Clicking “Checkout” will bring the user to the payment page which has not been implemented since a backend functionality was explicitly declared unwanted in the syllabus. A fake payment page would be a mere repetition of the concepts already presented in the news letter subscription page.
